Step Two:

It is a privilege to judge for Canines & Humans United, LLC – not a right. An applicant must consistently display the highest level of ethical conduct, impartiality, professional behavior and dedication to upholding the rules, code of conduct and philosophy of C.H.U. Judging priveleges may be denied or revoked for failure to meet these standards: (please initial each):

- I will act in an honest, ethical and non-biased manner when interacting with the public and while providing dog related services.
- I will always strive to apply judging criteria consistently according to the rules as written.
- I will strive to create a professional, yet friendly atmosphere in my ring.
- I will judge at least once every 12 months and always stay involved and current with any changes.
- When handling my own dog, I will never conduct myself in such a manner that it will reflect poorly on C.H.U. , the sport of dog competition or the host facility.

Step Three:

Consists of a written test of trial rules. A $35 test fee must be submitted with each completed test. Please mail this application and the requested information to:
